VOTE NEXT WEEK

6,640 Have Say On Bond Issue

A total of 6,640 Palm Springs voters are eligible to decide next Tuesday whether the city will purchase the Palm Springs Airport site Indian lands.

At stake in the election is a $3 million bond issue which would cover cost of the tribal lands. Other lands, already allotted to individuals, would cost nearly an additional $1 million, for a total of $3,935,000 for land costs.

Purchase Deadline

The total amount, however, is not subject to bonding, because only the tribal lands are now under the Congressional deadline of Aug. 10 for purchase or allocation.

For this expenditure, the city would receive an appreciating investment that is expected to begin showing a profit on the bond amortization in the fourth year. Part of the land could be sold, but would probably be retained for development of airport related uses which would return a continuing revenue to the city.

Early Profit Seen

Initial costs to taxpayers would be an estimated 23 cents per $100 valuation for first year, 21 cents the second, five cents the third, and nothing from the fourth through the tenth years of bond redemption, the Airport Citizens Committee says.

A total net profit from the fourth through tenth years is estimated at $550,000, for airport improvements. Actually, the probability is that the indebtedness would be materially reduced through federal grants in aid.

The program for airport aid ended with the fiscal year just past. But unallocated funds, which have not reverted to the general federal budget, are sufficient for requests for the next two years.

High Priority

The Federal Aviation Authority has already indicated that it places a high priority on the Palm Springs Airport, though no application can be made until Palm Springs has actually committed itself to the bond funds necessary for the initial purchase.

Available under potential federal aid funds is 54 per cent or the actual applied purchase price. This could total approximately $540,000 aid in the total purchase cost. The breakdown will be detailed here tomorrow.

ABSENTEES MAY GET BALLOTS UNTIL THURSDAY
Palm Springs absentee voters have until 9 p.m. Thursday to secure ballots for the $3 million airport purchase bond issue election March 14, City Clerk Shirley Henry reported today.

The city clerk's office will remain open until 9 p.m. on the final date for ballot procurement, to enable interested voters to call in person for ballots.

Written requests for the ballots may be sent to the city clerk, if written and signed by the absentee voter, listing proper mailing address.

Ballots for absentees may be cast up to five days beyond the March 14 special election date, or to March 19, city aides explained.

U. N. Opens 15th General Assembly Today

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — The U. N. General Assembly resumes its 15th annual session today with the Congo crisis and "cold war" problems the priority items to be taken up by the delegates.

Today's meeting was expected to be minus the fanfare that marked the opening session last Sept. 20 when Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and a host of top world leaders attended the first meeting.

Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah, the only chief of government on hand for this session, was scheduled to address the assembly this afternoon after the call to order by President Frederick H. Boland of Ireland.

The opening of the adjourned session was clouded by the failure of the Western powers to reach agreement with the Soviet bloc on shortening the agenda by scrapping some "cold war" items on the list.

Despite this failure, the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia announced that Russia had decided to scrap its resolution calling on the United Nations to condemn U. S. "aggression" in the U2 and RB47 plane incidents. This news came as a surprise to the U. S. delegation.

Aside from the obvious issues of the Congo and the Kremlin's continuing attempt to oust Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold in favor of a three-man presidium, the 38-item agenda contained a host of potential cold war items.

Llewellyn Thompson To Meet Khrushchev

MOSCOW — The U. S. Embassy announced today that Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson will fly to an undisclosed place in the Soviet Union Wednesday to meet Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Thompson presumably will deliver to Khrushchev a message from President Kennedy which he brought with him from Washington.

Thompson returned here from Washington Feb. 27 with the message from the President. But Khrushchev left the following morning on a previously scheduled tour of agricultural areas of Siberia. The ambassador therefore was unable to see him.

Thompson told Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko he was willing to go anywhere any time to deliver Kennedy's message.

Experts Look for Upturn In the Nation's Economy

WASHINGTON — Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon told Congress today Kennedy administration economic experts look for an upturn in the nation's economy "sometime" during the quarter which starts April 1.

At the same time he estimated that the recession has cut at least $1.5 billion from the 1956 federal revenues forecast by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in his outgoing budget.

Dillon, testifying before the Joint Economic Committee, also said the new administration feels it can operate within the present 4 1/2 per cent interest ceiling on long-term bonds. He said the interest rate issue—a hot one in the last Congress—"has become an academic one."

Dillon did not say whether the loss of federal revenues caused by the recession would wipe out the $1.5 billion surplus forecast by Eisenhower for the government budget in fiscal 1962, which starts July 1.

Predicts Better Business
Dillon said that a realistic estimate of the nation's gross national product for this calendar year "is based on an upturn starting sometime in the second quarter of this year and carrying through to the end of the year."

He said this was the feeling shared by the President's Council of Economic Advisers, which testified before the joint committee Monday.

Dillon said the council members' statement that a "quickening" in the pace of recovery may have been given too much emphasis in the press. He said the administration's overall judgment is that the upturn should come in the second quarter.

With a Kennedy administration budget review scheduled for later this month, many government officials expect the 1962 budget to be in the red. This is because of recession-caused revenue losses, Kennedy's antirecession measures and expected increases in defense spending.

"Dillon said 'it is now clear that revenues in fiscal 1962 cannot help but be less' than the $82.3 billion projected by Eisenhower in his final budget, which went to Congress Jan. 16."

Says Estimates Wrong
Dillon said Eisenhower's estimate of $46 billion of corporate profits in calendar 1961 was "too high, possibly by as much as $3 billion. In addition personal income may fall somewhat short of the $415 billion" Eisenhower estimated.

With the maximum corporate profits tax at 52 per cent, treasury officials figure that a $3 billion drop in profits would cost the government $1.5 billion in taxes.

Tribal Council Unanimous on Plans for Area

By FRED WEIGEL

Up in arms over the Planning Commission proposal for zoning of Section 14, Agua Caliente Tribal Council members last night demanded that the City Council call a meeting of the two councils to "discuss both the city plan and one proposed by the Indians."

For the first time in the history of Palm Springs the Agua Caliente Indians have come up with a plan for zoning in Section 14 — one on which they unanimously agree.

According to Mayor Frank Bogert "we should study the Indian plan and now it's been put into our lap by the Planning Commission and they don't want the question returned to them."

Meeting Understood

Eileen Miguel, chairman of the Tribal Council said that it was her understanding that there would be a meeting between the city and the Indians to discuss the zone plan.

A few years ago the Indians paid several thousands of dollars for a plan on Section 14, compiled by Victor Gruen and Associates, and within only a few weeks after it was completed, threw it out.

In their opposition to the Planning Commission zoning plan, the Indians claim that the city is reducing certain lands to a lesser use than is now on the land, and have submitted their plan which in some cases upgrades the land use.

Commission Refuses

The biggest difference between the Indian plan and that prepared by the Planning Commission is the refusal to have R-1 zoning on the northern edge of the section line. The Indians believe that this should be R-2 or R-3 use.

The Planning Commission, after a meeting with the council last week, tossed the entire matter into the lap of the council and said that they didn't want the plan returned to them, as they have made their study and come up with a recommendation.

Golf Deal Snagged

The proposed sale of the Palm Springs Golf Course property hit a snag last night when Councilman George Beebe asked for a special session with the city attorney to discuss changes in the lease agreement with the city.

U.S. Pulls Off Congo Navy Units

WASHINGTON — The United States today abruptly withdrew a small Navy task force heading towards the Congo and said the United Nations did not need it.

The task force was ordered to continue on its goodwill mission to South Africa, where it had been heading Monday when it was ordered to steam to the Congo area.

Monday's decision to move the Navy ships to the Congo was taken "in case the United Nations calls on them," the State Department said at the time.

The task force consisted of a destroyer, an oiler, two landing ships and 500 marines with normal battle equipment, including six helicopters.

The naval group left the United States last fall and had visited 11 African ports on its goodwill tour, also transporting food to the Congo and Guinea troops home from the Congo.

They were heading for South Africa Sunday when they got a hurry up call to turn around and return to Congo waters. That was at about the time the U.N. lost the port of Matadi. The naval ships would have been able to operate across beaches without a port.

The ships would not have reached the Congo until March 10.

The hotel room was burglarized during the daylight hours while the couple were in swimming. Other jewelry in the room was not touched.

Bottle Blowers Lament Their Lack of Blowing

LOS ANGELES — Worried delegates of the Glass Bottle Blowers Association (AFL-CIO) opened their 62nd annual convention Monday lamenting they haven't blown any glass for years.

"It's the brutal truth," said association president Lee W. Minton of Philadelphia. "Automation — the machine — hit us way back in 1910."

"The name was adopted in 1845, when blowing glass was something a man could be proud of — and, frankly, we're simply stuck with the title."

"To be brutal again," Minton said, "when people ask em, 'What do glass blowers do now?' I simply reply, 'They do just about everything but blow glass.'"

The reason the 620 delegates to the national convention were worried was because automation is threatening to make new inroads in the glass blower's domain.

About 18,000 of the union's 56,000 members hold jobs selecting and packing glass, Minton said.

But, said Minton, "there's research along the lines of selecting and packing by machine — and such research is usually successful."

He said the 18,000 men now doing that work probably would lose their jobs if machines can be perfected to do the work.

Lamented Minton: "We believe we're a key industry. After all, we serve people from the cradle to the grave — from bottles that hold their milk as babies to the bottles that hold formaldehyde used for embalming."

Residents Express Opinions

The Desert Sun is carrying as a daily feature until the Airport Bond election March 14—expressions by local businessmen and residents on the need for the airport and the election.

AL NEHL, long-time winter resident and civic worker—"I was a flyer in WWI and a founder-member of the largest aero club in the world. Both of my sons have planes and we are very air minded. This airport facility is very important to Palm Springs especially in bringing our tourists here. The better the transportation facilities you have here, the more big spenders you will get here, much to the help of business and working residents."

DR. GEORGE MILKIE, optometrist—"An airport is vital to the welfare of any community. I feel it is important that the citizens themselves weigh this issue carefully, and I would urge them to support the bond election Tuesday."

Union Men to Enter Pleas In Farm Strike

EL CENTRO — U — Thirty-three domestic laborers and union organizers were to enter pleas in Superior Court today in an incident growing out of the Imperial Valley's bitter farm-labor dispute.

The men were charged in grand jury indictments with seven felony counts ranging from kidnapping to arson in connection with an attack Feb. 9 on Mexican national farm workers (braceros) at the Joe Corona labor camp.

Meanwhile Imperial Valley lettuce growers were expected to seek a court order today from U.S. District Judge James Carter in San Diego "to compel U.S. Labor Department officials to follow procedure regarding removal of braceros which they themselves devised."

Some 2,800 braceros last week were restricted to valley labor camps after they were ordered removed from fields of 18 growers where labor disputes had been declared valid.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown said Monday in Los Angeles that he was pushing for legislation that would compel farmers and growers to recognize farm workers unions and bargain with them under certain conditions.

Brown also said he would seek personally to work out a voluntary solution to the strikes in separate meetings with the two sides.

Mike Schultz, president of the Imperial Valley Lettuce Growers and Shippers Association, reported some lettuce growers here were moving to Arizona.

Schultz estimated growers have been losing $200,000 daily because of strikes which began in mid-January at 18 lettuce farms.

MOVIE STAR ELIZABETH TAYLOR today appeared to have passed the crisis in an attack of staphylococcus pneumonia. Liz Passes Crisis, But Condition is Serious

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press International

LONDON — U — Elizabeth Taylor appeared to have passed the crisis in her battle with pneumonia today, and her doctor pronounced her "definitely improved but still in serious condition."

New drugs were being administered to the beautiful actress.

"Miss Taylor is too ill to manufacture the antitoxin necessary to fight the poison in her system," Dr. Carl H. Goldman said. "We have to pump it into her ready-made."

Dr. Goldman is one of the six doctors who have been at Miss Taylor's bedside in her struggle with the pneumonia that struck her down last Friday.

Her condition was reported still grave as she fought for life in the London clinic in a bare yellow room brightened by green and yellow curtains.

It was believed that a special new drug flown here by jet from New York this morning by Milton Blackstone, agent for her husband, Eddie Fisher, will be used in a few days' time. It will be given to the actress in an effort to have it absorb the pneumonia bacteria and prevent them from spreading.

A medical bulletin released by the attending doctors at 9 a. m. (4 a. m. EST) reported: "Miss Taylor's condition is definitely improved. She is breathing quietly and peacefully, although the general situation remains grave."

The bulletin was issued to the crowd of reporters waiting outside the exclusive London Clinic a few moments after the delivery of a special drug flown in from New York. The drug, named staphylococcal bacteria phage lysate, will not be used until Miss Taylor's condition has improved sufficiently to make it effective, a spokesman said.

Goldman, Miss Taylor's physician, said the actress was "a little better this morning."

The official bulletin said "after a restless night with high temperatures, Miss Taylor's condition was definitely improved this morning. She is breathing quietly and peacefully although the general situation remains grave."

It was learned that another specialist was called in for consultations this morning. He is Dr. Robert Beaver, specialist in anesthetics and breathing who is senior anesthetist at the London Chest Hospital.

Fisher Prays
Husband Eddie Fisher and Miss Taylor's parents also kept the nightlong vigil, praying in adjoining rooms for her recovery.

All six of the 29-year-old actress' physicians—one of the most remarkable medical teams ever assembled here for an individual—remained at the clinic through the night, ready to fight off the relapses that have twice taken her close to death.

Fisher's agent, Milton Blackstone, flew in from New York this morning with 24 vials of the special drug. Blackstone was cleared through customs and immigration in about five minutes and sped from the airport to the hospital behind a police escort.

Miss Taylor's breathing was being helped by an electronic lung attached to a tube inserted in her windpipe in an emergency operation Saturday. She was receiving blood transfusions and taking nourishment through a continuous drip tube in her ankle.

represented by financier Henry Attias of Beverly Hills.

Councilman Beebe said that the changes in the lease were "so complicated that we should study them with our attorney."

Special Agreement
However, Westview attorney Horace Kilak told the council last night that there "were no changes in the lease except for the deletion of certain things that have already been accomplished," and added that the city would have to have a special agreement with Westview for such matters as underground utilities on land adjacent to the golf course facility.

The new group hopes to go into escrow this month, and on completion of escrow will be able to show title to all the land, a situation which heretofore has not been accomplished by Westview, and hence the lease payments by the city has not had to be made.

The council has set a luncheon meeting between themselves and the City Attorney for next Monday at the Riviera Hotel, and will meet again in regular session Monday evening.

The city has called a meeting with the Indians for 1 p. m. March 21, and have continued the hearing on the matter to the meeting of April 3. It will be held in the Council chambers.

Pair Confess Murder of Eric Peugeot

PARIS — U — Two young Frenchmen who had been "living it up" with beautiful women in a smart Alpine resort have confessed they staged the kidnapping of automobile heir Eric Peugeot, 4, last year, the Interior Ministry announced today.

Top police officials said Pierre "Handsome Berge" Larcher, 38, and Raymond Rolland, 28, got the idea for the abduction from a cheap paperback novel about a kidnapping, and chose their victims after a careful perusal of wealthy Frenchmen listed in a who's who volume.

The two men were picked up in a car, a Peugeot, at Annecy, a lake resort town near the Swiss border, in the company of four friends—a man and three women, including a former Danish beauty queen and a Eurasian strip-tease dancer.

Squandered Ransom Money
Police said the two men had squandered $85,000 of the $100,000 ransom they collected from young Eric's father before they released the child unharmed in front of a Paris cafe last April.

They said Rolland and Larcher, the latter already wanted on an extortion charge, had been living a life of luxury in the company of pretty women almost since the day the ransom money was paid. At Annecy, the boy's father, Roland Peugeot, confronted Raymond Rolland and identified him as the man who took the briefcase containing the ransom money from him in a busy Paris street, police said.

"Crazy with Joy"
"I'm crazy with joy," the elder Peugeot said. "I've been waiting for this moment for 11 months."

Jean Verdier, director of the Surete Nationale, the French equivalent of the FBI, said Larcher and Rolland absolved their companions of any role in the kidnapping. He quoted them as saying: "We prepared and organized the kidnapping of little Eric Peugeot all by ourselves."

Unions Urge Crash Program

SAN FRANCISCO — U — The California Labor Federation, AFL-CIO, has proposed a crash program to ward off "the worst employment situation in 25 years."

The 36 members of the federation's Executive Board recommended immediate income tax relief for wage earners, and urged union members to seek Congressional support of President Kennedy's anti-unemployment program.

"...and we're close to the new school!"

Boasting about your home, Higgins? Well, that's understandable. Most men who have worked hard through the years to buy good homes for their families are proud of them.

Nice as your home is, its location in a progressive community, with all the public facilities needed for modern living, adds greatly to its attractiveness.

Someday—perhaps years from now—you may sell your home. When you do, the good schools, well-equipped fire department, modern hospitals, ample supply of pure water and other community assets can make a difference of several thousand dollars cash in your pocket.

Of course, you share the cost of these community assets. But the cost is spread over a long period of time to keep taxes at a reasonable rate. This is done by sale of municipal bonds on a competitive bid basis.

The Bank of America and its associated investment dealers bid on virtually all municipal bonds issued in the State. That's because we have confidence in the future of California and communities like yours.

Being right there on the scene, you know the business, industry and people in your community as well as anybody does. You've watched it grow and improve as the years went by. You've helped by voting for needed bond issues.

But have you ever thought of buying the municipal bonds issued in your area? They're available in denomination of $1,000. Municipal bonds pay you a good return and the income you get is tax free. The manager of your local branch of the Bank of America will be glad to give you full information—or you may write to

Kennedy Asks New Curbs on Expenditures

WASHINGTON, March 7.—President Kennedy has urged new spending curbs on American servicemen abroad expected to save up to $110 million a year and help ease the drain on U. S. gold reserves.

Included in the program announced by the President was a ban on transportation of newly purchased foreign-made automobiles at U. S. government expense.

"Primary emphasis in achieving this reduction will be on the voluntary actions of the individuals involved," a White House statement said. But it also listed "a number of specific actions" by the military departments "to insure the reduction of expenditures in overseas areas."

The statement was a follow-up to a voluntary plan which Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced after Kennedy reversed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's order to reduce the number of military dependents overseas.

INCOME TAX REPORTS

Americans Lose 5 Billion

NEW YORK (AP)—American taxpayers are cheating themselves out of more than $5 billion by not taking deductions on the long form income tax return, according to a crusading accountant from Brooklyn.

Daniel X. B. Schwartz, president of National Tax Savers Inc., thinks the short tax return form preferred by millions, including the tax collector, is the short road to the poorhouse. His organization has contracted with 1,000 radio and TV stations coast to coast for spot announcements alerting taxpayers to "stop cheating yourselves."

"I personally have found 400 new deductions which taxpayers can claim this year if they use the long form," said Schwartz, who publishes a tax booklet entitled "Daniel's Tax Savers" based on 18 years of experience in helping thousands of clients make out their tax returns.

Help for Small Incomes
Schwartz is interested in the taxpayer who makes less than $4,000 a year, a category into which he believes 90 per cent of taxpayers fall. He says maximum use of deductions allowed on the long form will make 75 per cent of almost any expenditure deductible for those in the lower income bracket.

"There are more than 1,000 everyday expenditures that are legally deductible," he said. "A random sampling would include cough drops, clothes donated to charity, birth control devices, tips, cost of your bobby in you can sell $1 worth of it, magazines that can enhance your technical knowledge, anything you eat—if a doctor prescribes it, sales taxes, tranquilizers, license plates, turkish baths and cemetery plots."

The government doesn't advertise any of these deductions, Schwartz said, because it believes an uneducated public will keep on overpaying its taxes to the benefit of federal and state treasuries.

About 50 million taxpayers do overpay, he said. Many of his clients have told him they'd rather overpay than risk being questioned about itemized deductions.

Our Money Involved
"Of course it's ridiculous for any red-blooded American to feel that way," he said. "You should take off what you feel is legally deductible and let the government ask for proof. After all, most of us are billing the government for a return of some portion of tax moneys withheld from our payroll checks. The government isn't billing us—it's already got our money."

"Nationwide use of all legal deductions would kill the present tax structure," he said. "And, believe me, the present tax setup could stand some revisions."

Battle Continues on Public Health Issues

By JAMES C. ANDERSON

United Press International
SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Round three has started in a battle between a legislator and the medical lobby.

Assemblyman Ronald Brooks Cameron, an accountant and a Democrat who represents the 50th Assembly District.

The Public Health League of California, an organization supported by the medical profession, the California Hospital Association and other medical groups.

Round one began after Cameron introduced a bill to open to the press and public some records of private hospitals licensed by the state Department of Public Health.

Cameron was quoted in newspaper accounts as saying the Assembly Public Health Committee, to which his AB 249 was referred, has decided to kill his bill at a luncheon meeting hosted by lobbyists for the health league.

Round Two

Round two was held with the Assembly Committee of Legislative Representation as referee. The question was: were Cameron's charges correct and should the committee deny lobbyist credentials to Ben H. Read and E. E. Salisbury, registered advocates for the health league.

Testimony at the committee was that, yes, indeed, Read for a number of years had hosted a regular weekly luncheon for as many members of the Public Health committee as wanted to show up. The meetings were held in Read's hotel room and needless to say the press and public were not among the invited guests.

Copies of bills pending before the committee were "available" at the luncheon sessions but every member of the committee who had attended Reads last get-together testified that no decision was made on Cameron's bill or any other piece of legislation.

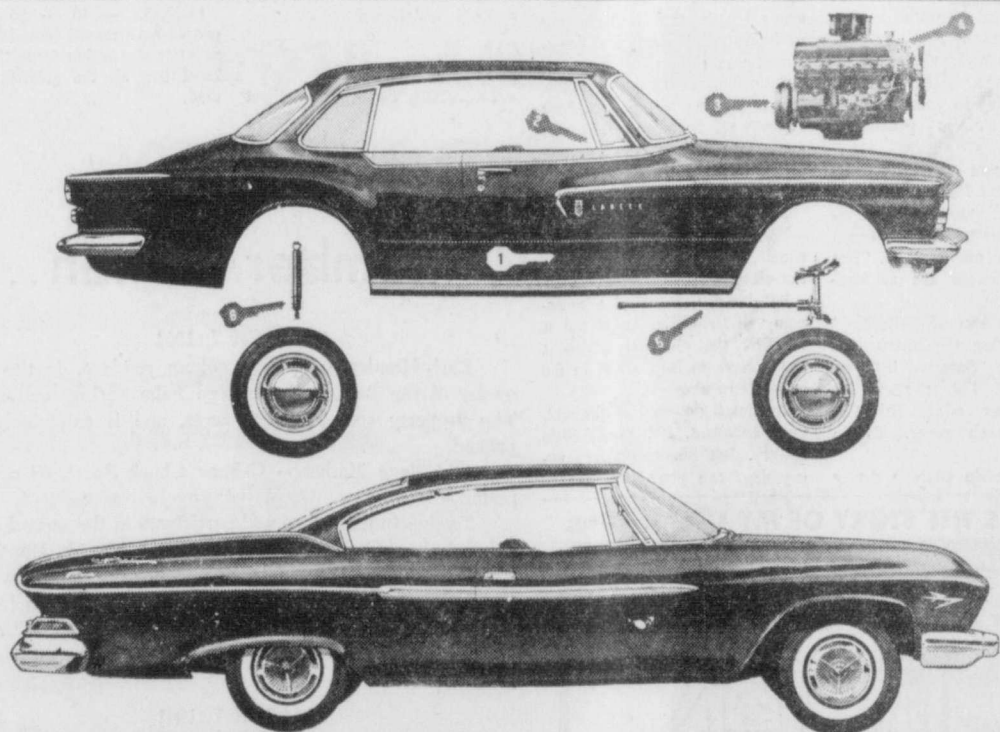

Cameron Present

As a matter of fact, Cameron admitted attending the luncheons quite often and also said he was present for some of the discussion about his bill.

Round two went to Read and Salisbury on points—he Legislative Representation Committee voted 5-2 to put the two lobbyists on the accepted list and give them cards entitling them to represent the health league.

There was some sparring over the weekend before the third round started. Cameron told a luncheon of Democrats in Los Angeles that he was continually amazed at the "raw power of organized medicine." He claimed the league spent more than $17,000 to defeat him in the 1960 election.

It would be up to the subcommittee of public health to decide who wins round three by determining the need for Cameron's legislation, the purpose of it and its effect on such things as the doctor-patient relationship.

Mexico Needs Bracero Program

Mexican nationals do not come to the United States to work for cheap wages, according to Adolfo Dominguez, Council General of Mexico, who discussed the "Bracero" labor problem recently with members of the Commonwealth Club in San Francisco. Furthermore, the Mexican official reported, the sooner the U.S. settles its agricultural problem the better it will be for the Mexican government.

Attorney Dominguez also struck at the labor contractor set-up which he said neither his government nor the U.S. government likes. "Our two governments do not recognize middlemen," he reported. It will be remembered that this aspect of the problem was criticized by Rep. D. S. Saund last year and that he, in turn, was criticized severely for his stand.

The complexity of the problem was brought to the attention of the Commonwealth Club's agricultural section. For example:

In 1960 some 182,600 braceros came into California through El Centro. Making allowance for some who returned to Mexico and re-entered the U.S. about six weeks later, the figure would be reduced to about 87,000.

California has 65 associations of farmers with around 22,000 members. There are 650 labor camps in the state where the laborers are housed at farmers' expense. Association members must agree to a rigid set of regulations and any who violate them are not permitted to employ Mexican workers.

The composite remittance to braceros comes to between $28 million and $30 million a year, which is one of the largest sources of Mexican national income. These workers acquire knowledge of modern agricultural methods that are quite helpful to them when they return to work on Mexican farms. So there are advantages as well as the disadvantages that must be taken into consideration by Mexico.

With the population of Mexico on the increase—and no additional land to work—there will always be a lot of them from south of the border who need work. They come through Sonora to El Centro at U.S. government expense—for which they are charged $20 on entry into this country. At El Centro the men get a rather meager physical examination and are passed in to the U.S. About 5 per cent of them remain in this country—or enter as immigrants.

About 1700 braceros are employed by lettuce growers in the Imperial Valley. Labor unions believe these Mexican workers should not be allowed to compete with American labor. But can the union supply the required number of workers, and can the growers pay $1.20 an hour and compete with growers in Texas and Arizona who pay only 85 cents an hour? This is a serious question and involves not only the growers but the U.S. and Mexican governments, the State of California and agricultural economy of the Coachella and Riverside counties.

Some solution of the problem must be found.

Forty Years After

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Does history repeat — or stand still? There is sporadic rebellion against the latest Communist conquest, the one by Fidel Castro in Cuba — but these next two weeks, ending March 18th, mark the 40th anniversary period of the last sizable, popular uprising of Russians against their Red masters.

FORTY YEARS since the famous Kronstadt rebellion — and still brave, idealistic, freedom-minded men have nowhere been able to break the iron hold of a Communist tyranny once it has fastened upon them. Kings, queens, czars, priests and soldiers all through the long history of Europe and Asia have been overthrown by enraged peoples. But there still hasn't been the first major example of how a Communist dictator can be turned out of power.

In late February 1921, the Russian Baltic Fleet lay frozen in the ice around Kronstadt fortress, 20 miles east of Petrograd in the Gulf of Finland. For the previous five years, these sailors had been Lenin's strong right arm. They had followed orders by killing their officers, storming the Winter Palace, policing the city of Peter the Great, for 200 years capital of Russia.

BUT AT LAST the sailors were having some doubts about the Red Revolution. Some of the seamen, after a taste of freedom, resented the reassertion of discipline by the new Fleet commanders. Many more of them, it seems, resented what they saw in Petrograd. The announced aims of the Lenin - Trotsky leadership — like those of Castro — sounded fine. The long - drawn state of "emergency," with its firing squads and its postponement of free elections and free speech, seemed justifiable — for a while. But after five years of it! Well, there was a limit.

THE SAILORS HELD meetings and passed a 15 - point resolution — asking the basic freedoms for Petrograd. To their astonishment, the Commissars of the Moscow government replied with anger and violence. The government refused even to discuss the freedoms resolution, and the sailors were ordered to desist or be shot "like partridges." The sailors took no offensive action, contenting themselves with publishing a liberal, anti-government newspaper, and preparing to defend their lives. They numbered somewhere between 14,000 and 40,000, they had no leaders of worth, they tried and failed to enlist reinforcements from the Petrograd workers.

SOME CZARIST Army officers, released from prison, tried in vain to organize the defense by getting the sailors to break the ice around the fortress and send for help against the Bolsheviks. The sailors were strangely lethargic, seemingly hypnotized by a belief that the so-called People's leaders would not use force. At the Tenth Party Congress, held March 8th, 1921, Lenin admitted that the Revolution was failing in its first purposes, saying: "We have failed to convince the broad masses."

LENIN SENT Trotsky, the People's Commissar for War, to deal with the Kronstadters. His troops were deserting. They refused to shoot at their countrymen. The firing squads went into action. By March 6th, according to Moscow Izvestia, 2,500 officers and soldiers had been executed for treason and desertion. On March 9, twenty Commissars in Petrograd were tried and shot. When several regiments still refused to attack the fortress, every fifth man was shot.

The battle began with a duel between the big battleships of the Fleet and the Bolshevik artillery, accompanied by aerial sorties and armored car patrols. It ended in savage hand-to-hand death struggles, with some sailors finally escaping across the ice to Finland to tell the tale, but thousands were dead in the stone corridors or the icy waters.

PETRICHENKO, titular leader, was interviewed by a reporter for the New York Times and quoted in the issue of March 21, 1921:

"We were defeated, but the movement will succeed because it comes from the people. . . . There are 3 million like me in Russia, not reactionary Whites and murderous Reds, and from these plain people will come the overthrow of the Bolsheviks!" After 40 years, the echo answers, "When?"

STAN DELAPLANE:

This Side of The Sun

By Phat

Let's end this frustration About transportation — Make getting here really a snap. For the airport purchase Back it up with your yes. And keep Palm Springs right on the map.

Well, as rhymes go, that's really not so hot. But the idea is there.

WE'VE GOT WHAT it takes here in Palm Springs — and on the surrounding desert — climate, scenery, recreation, everything.

Just what the vacationer wants. So, let's make it easy for him to attain all of this. A "yes" vote March 14 for the airport bonds will go a long, long way toward this goal. An adequate airport will make it quick and easy for the people to get here to share the enjoyment of the desert with us.

SURE, we have train service which is enjoyable. We have good bus service with the two Greyhound express runs daily between Palm Springs and Los Angeles.

Then there's the private automobile. But many people from the east, most of them in fact, prefer the quick four or six hour flight into Palm Springs (with Los Angeles connections) than the week - long drag on clogged highways.

WITH AN ADEQUATE airport, chances are that it wouldn't be long before the connections at Los Angeles would be eliminated and we'd have direct flights to Palm Springs from the large population centers.

That's another reason for stamping a "yes" vote on the ballot a week from today.

EVERY RESORT CITY knows the value of quick and easy transportation. What they have to offer is no good unless it's available.

Florida is served by several airlines. So is Las Vegas. Other resorts, too. People want to come here. That's been shown and is being shown every day. Make it easy for them.

So — keep two things in mind. Be sure to vote next Tuesday and be sure to vote "yes."

THIS IS A BIG day in history if you give pause to think what life would be like without a telephone at your elbow.

It was 85 years ago today, on March 7, 1876, that Alexander Graham Bell was issued a patent for his invention, the telephone.

Think of what it would be like without a telephone! Then remember when you're frustrated that it's not the invention, the instrument or the central girl — it's either you or the party you are calling.

NOW, IF WE only had pictures connected with the phone and we could see who was calling — then we'd know whether to answer it or let it ring while we continued watching the television program.

Four-Alarm Fire

Though spring peeks coyly around the corner these lush green days, the evenings are still too cool to use the outside barbecue. We have been cooking inside on the hibachi — it is dreadfully gauche in our community to use the stove. And what if somebody should drop in unexpectedly and catch you!

THE HIBACHI IS a small iron stove the size of a football helmet.

You fill it with charcoal. It is about large enough to cook two lamb chops. We eat meagerly but stylishly.

The hibachi requires a great deal of instruction: "Fill the firepit with charcoal and light. The draft may be regulated by the sliding door at the bottom below the grate."

The hibachie is a Japanese invention — no doubt the Japanese reply to the Surrender on the Missouri.

What they do not tell you is the sliding iron door the same temperature as the glowing charcoal. I lost a good deal of skin finding that out.

I bought the hibachi from the barbecue store man. Barbecue is so social in our social set that we even have a store devoted to this serious art.

"Clever fellows, these Japanese," said the barbecue man. "Just tuck this in your fireplace and dinner is practically ready."

"How do you start the charcoal, Barbecue Man?"

"I am glad you asked that intelligent question," he said reaching for a can on the shelf. "Not all my customers are as foresighted as you."

"Take this can of Brite-Glo," he said reading the instructions on the back. "Spray a little on the charcoal. Let it stand for a few minutes while Brite-Glo penetrates each piece. Then light."

Well, Brite-Glo costs a pretty penny. But we must cook on charcoal or have our chef's cap with funny sayings removed in terrible disgrace.

I sprayed it on the charcoal. While it penetrated, I put on my chef's cap and the barbecue apron with the pocket marked "Crying Towel."

I got out the long - handled barbecue fork.

I lit the charcoal with a long-handled Japanese match. (My equipment is excellent. Approved by all the other barbecue chefs in the neighborhood.)

Brite-Glo started off brightly. It burned with a cheery sord of flare.

It flickered low and finally went out.

I could not detect any glow among the charcoal briquets. But I picked one up with the tongs. The tongs are so long you have to put on gloves to see what you are handling. But we couldn't barbecue socially without them.

Finally, I felt the charcoal. It had the slight chill of evening on it.

I sprayed the whole bed with Brite-Glo again. I mean I doused it! I soaked it good.

This time it went up with a great whoosh! I was only at arm's length and it took my eyelashes off. When it died down, I took a sneaky peek at the stuff.

Brite-Glo was burning all right. It was burning in the air. About an inch off the charcoal. It was going into gas and was not laying a warm glove on the charcoal.

For a moment there, I thought — Heaven forgive me for a weak sinner. I thought of turning on the electric stove.

But instead, I soaked a newspaper in Brite-Glo. And I put it UNDER the charcoal where it would have to leap a foot in the air to burn above it.

The lamb chops, I might add, were excellent. Left you a little hungry. But how can't have everything, can you?

Dear Abby...

...by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: How to you feel about a father who teaches his children to play cards? Our children, age 10, 12 and 14, are experts in bridge, poker and rummy. Name it and they can play it. They don't play for money, only match sticks, but I am afraid when they grow older they will start to gamble. How do you and other parents feel about this?

AGAINST CARDS

DEAR AGAINST: Card playing at home, like chess, checkers, or Scrabble is good mental exercise. It helps teach children to add, subtract and think. Furthermore, it keeps Pop close to them, which is a good gamble with sure odds.

DEAR ABBY: I work in an office with a group of normal girls, but I have a gripe. They all air their most intimate problems. I hear details of their personal lives that would make a sailor blush. When I meet their husbands, I can't look at them because I know so much about them. I am an average married woman and have never thought married folks should "compare notes." Please tell me how to let them know, without getting a horse laugh, that some things are better left unsaid?

KEEPING MUM

DEAR KEEPING: The women with whom you work must be very hungry for conversation. The only way to let them know you aren't interested in their private lives is to tell them so. If they laugh — they laugh, but the laugh's on them.

DEAR ABBY: We have been married 20 years and have a nice family. I neither smoke nor drink and neither did my wife until just before Christmas. Then she started on a diet again and she thinks smoking is the only thing to curb her appetite. She has been on diets before but never stayed with them very long. She has lost lots of weight and looks nice, too. But I would rather have her fat than smelling like a smudge pot.

HER HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: A woman's choice need not be between losing her figure and smelling like a smudge pot. There are far healthier ways to curb appetites. A cigarette makes a poor crutch.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LORENA Take his temperature. If it's normal—marry him.

Three lot possibilities were discussed, with no action taken. It was proposed that the city install gas tanks for city vehicle use at the fire department, where personnel are on duty 24 hours a day. VOTE "YES"

ON AIRPORT BONDS Tuesday, March 14

The Airport . . . Palm Springs "Lifeline to the World!"

This fabulously lush desert resort area cannot exist and cannot grow without adequate airport facilities. That's what the election March 14 is all about.

Since 1950 use of the Palm Springs airport has increased at the rate of about 71 percent annually—until last year airport users spent in excess of $22 million in Palm Springs. There were 36,363 landings and takeoffs of private planes in Palm Springs last year. These visitors are good business for the area—and good business for you.

Visitors broaden the tax base, and as the tax base is broadened, the individual tax is less.

What about taxes on the airport acquisition plan?

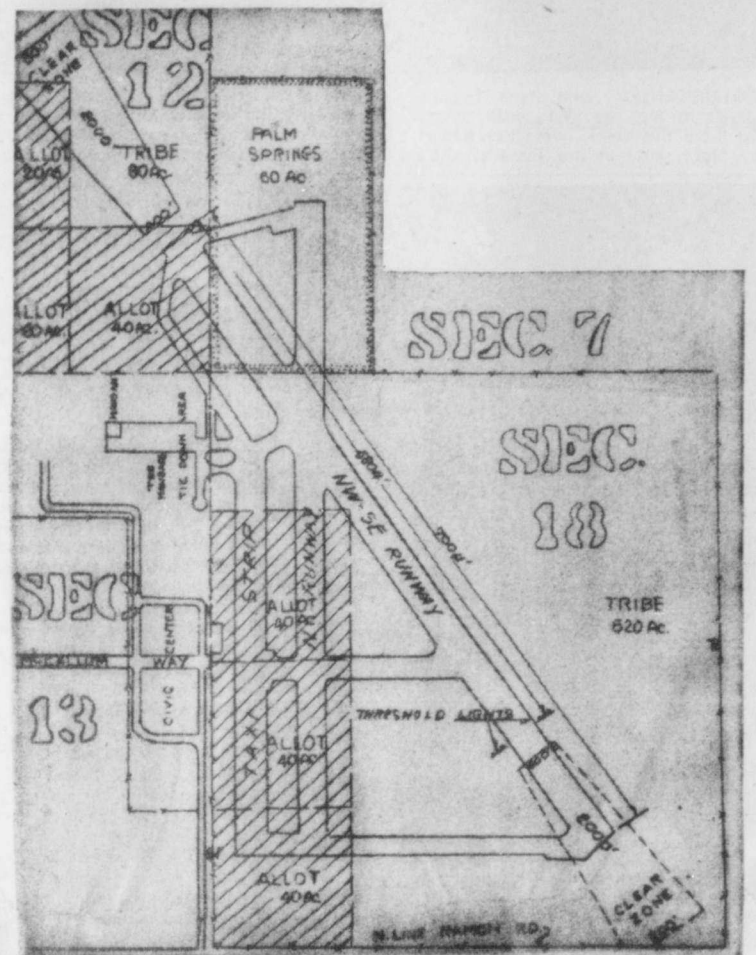

Presuming no income from operations and no broadened tax base, Palm Springs taxes would go up a maximum of 26.6 cents per $100 assessed valuation—or about $6.50 on a home of $20,000 replacement value.

But income projections by competent and unbiased tax and airport operation authorities show that it is highly probable that the maximum tax rate, the first year, will be only 23.3 cents and that BY THE END OF THE THIRD YEAR THE AIRPORT WILL BE IN THE BLACK, INCLUDING INTEREST AND BOND RETIREMENT!

THUS, IT WON'T COST, IT WILL PAY!

The city has until August 10 to acquire 594 acres of Indian land in a parcel at an appraised price of approximately $5000 an acre. The bond election March 14 is for the purpose of authorizing the city to issue $3 million in bonds to pay for the purchase. There are assurances of $1 million in Federal aid on the program—in the form of reimbursement to the city.

The plan is feasible and based on years of study. The need is urgent. The time is now and a two-thirds majority is needed.

A PICTURE STORY of the purchase of the airport is graphically told in the drawing prepared by the Airport Bond Election Committee. The shaded areas are land already allotted to individual Indians, and this land will have to be acquired after the airport bond issue is approved by the voters. The City of Palm Springs already owns the land in Section 7, outlined with dots, as well as the part of Section 13 shown in the bottom left side of the map. The bond issue will purchase 594.54 acres, and federal aid will help the city purchase the necessary (shaded area) 160 acres, outlined with the dark black lines. The bottom 40 acres is not completed for purchase as well as the 40 acres in the top left side. The land to the east of the strip, in Section 18, will be opened to development or sold off to pay for the allotted sections if federal aid should not be forthcoming.

Klotzbuechers Honored at Sunday Party

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Don Klotzbuecher, who leave this week for Mosinee, Wisconsin, where they have purchased a newspaper, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Crawford entertained a group of newspaper friends and city officials at a Sunday night cocktail-buffet. Klotzbuecher, who has been with the Desert Sun the past nine years, has been managing editor for a number of years. He was first president of the Desert Press Club at Palm Springs. Both he and his wife Gretchen are natives of Wisconsin.

It was a balmy evening and guests gathered in the walled backyard, where a bar and buffet had been set up. Blossoms on the grapefruit trees perfumed the air and the bougainvillea flamed brightly in the lights. Santos had arranged a buffet featuring baked ham and shrimp creole, with a great bowl of fresh fruits and strawberries, and boysenberry tarts.

Actor Charlie Irwin delighted the guests with some of the anecdotes for which he is famous, and expressed regret at losing the Klotzbuechers.

City officials included, Chief of Police Gus Kettmann, Mayor and Mrs. Frank Bogert, Cliff Brown of the Chamber of Commerce (he presented the honor guest with a golfing cap from Palm Springs Golf Course), Judge and Mrs. Merrill Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith, the Oscar Gilberts, Mrs. Ruth Hardy, Jan King, Pat Wright, Dr. Jack Nevins, Tom Powers and Pat Dougherty were among the guests.

Stars to Appear for First Nighters

Peggy Ann Garner will share the guest of honor spotlight in tonight's First Nighter dinner at the Tennis Club with three leading personalities of the dramatic and musical world, Carla Alberghetti, Katherine Hilgenberg and Larry Kurt.

Miss Garner, who opens tonight in the Ferrall's Playhouse at Deep Well in "John Loves Mary," will be joined by the trio who began production today for Gian Carlo Menotti's twin operas "The Medium" and "The Telephone," due to open next Tuesday in the Ferrall's round theater.

Miss Garner will be accompanied to tonight's First Nighter event by William Berger, who plays opposite her in the romantic comedy effort commencing tonight. Other players in "John Loves Mary" slated for appearances at the Tennis Club dinner include Phyllis Flax and Thom Conroy.

Production on the twin operatic program for next week — a pioneer effort by the Ferralls, which will see the first legitimate opera production in Palm Springs — is split between Michael Ferrall's direction and Donald Sheffy's musical direction.

WAC Completes Basic Training

Artists Ball and Art Show Coming to Shadow Mountain

Palettes are being readied and paints smeared in preparation for Shadow Mountain Club's Artist's Ball and Member's Art Exhibit, March 24.

A reception for the many exhibitors will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a lobster or prime rib dinner following at 7:30. Dress will be optional but pastel - minded art lovers may come as "Pinkie" and "Blue Boy," while some will don Parisian outfits to resemble a Toulouse Lautrec poster girl.

Among the amateurs exhibiting will be Juanita Bosworth, Harriet Clendenen, Jean Damerel, Beverly Diggle, Irene Fenton, Mary Trumble, Carl Henderson, Harriet Lake, Evelyn Schevorr and Bob Roberge (he's just 11 years old and will show still lifes done in oil).

Host Party for Nevadans

A spotlighted Nevada flag flew from a flagpole in front of the Ed Robbin home on Alejo Road Friday night, as the Robbins entertained at a poolside cocktail party honoring the Nevada visitors, here for Desert Circus Week.

The Robbins, whose other home is in Reno, were in western dress, and guests were in their Ball costumes. A simulated pinon pine, the Nevada state tree, held miniature blue birds, the Nevada state bird, to furnish an unusual centerpiece for the buffet table. It and other decorations were the work of Mary Noel.

Guests from Reno included Nevada's Lieutenant - Governor Rex Bell, Eddie Questa, Newt Crumley, Ben Edwards, Carl Hicks, Harry Spencer, Jud Allen, the Ernest Primms, the Emil Boffingers. From Las Vegas came Mayor Oren Gregson, the Wilbur Clarks, Jack Peppers.

Among others were: Ed McCoubrey, Mrs. Austin McManus, Joan McManus, Mrs. Ward Warner, the John Costellos, Clare Ballaghs, Bill Powells, Mrs. Ed

Cars thronged the driveway at El Mirador Friday night ... a parade of costumed figures ... with more than a sprinkling of celebrities ... passed through the big front door ... and the lobby was filled with sightseers ... for the Silver Anniversary Ball that was the high spot of Desert Circus 1961 ... The arrival of the Presidential parents ... the Joe Kennedys ... who came in with Desert Circus Queen Janet Leigh and her actor husband Tony Curtis ... caused a stir ... In the same party ... which came in early ... was Igor Cassini ... better known as Cholly Knickerbocker ... In the party headed by Ball chairman Nancy Holmes ... who didn't wear that mermaid costume after all ... were ... San Francisco's Herb Caen and Los Angeles' Joan Winchell ...

High Sheriff Wilbur Clark wore a glittering western outfit ... and Mrs. Clark was elegantly gowned in silver ... with a crown of silver leaves in her hair ... Accompanying the High Sheriff was burly Under Sheriff Mickey Finn ... wearing the buckskins which he wore on his cross country ride to Washington, D. C. ...

Mary Dayton and Richard Strauss ... the mysterious masked figures in the black and white costumes with a harlequin air ... won first prize ... a portable typewriter ... donated by High Sheriff Clark ... (How do you divide a typewriter?) ...

Most delightful costuming and another prize winner ... was the pair winning second place ... singer Betsy Duncan as a white monkey with jeweled collar ... led by Chicago's Ed Barrett ... who was in black face and dressed in a leopard skin like the little black sambo figure on those El Mirador tote bags ... Across his back was the same message that is on the bags ... "Dis Must Be Da Place" ... Barrett wore the same costume the following day ... when he rode El Mirador's float in the parade ...

Jeanie Barrett was an exciting bareback rider ... in black sequins and blacked feathered crown ...

The O.E.L. Graves' painting went to Mrs. Ernest Primm ... Her sensational costume was of silver sequins and molded her figure and capped her head ... with a great cobra head on top ... E. F. McDonald ... who had aroused comment all evening by his Nero costume ... was another prize winner ... Joan Winchell wore the fabulous African costume she wore to last year's Bachelors Ball in town ... Vivian Austin was a beautiful lion tamer ... dressed in black with a leopard eye patch ... Lillian McClure was in a becoming period costume with big ostrich plumed hat ... which she said she wore first to a Bookworm Ball many years ago ... Barbara (Mrs. Zeppo) Marx was wearing a Roaring Twenties dress ... especially designed for her by Howard Greer ... It was black with long ropes of pearls ... pink roses at the neckline and on the toes of her slippers ... and around her shoulders she wore a boa of pale pink roses ...

Berniece and Eddie LeBaron were Arabian ... Turner Clark was the tall gaucho escorting his pretty wife who was in Siamese costume ... wearing the glittering gold headdress which won her a prize at last fall's Hat Parade Luncheon ... The Cliff Hendersons were Tyrolean ... Georgina Poston and Jimmy Morton were in Mexican peon garb ... the of New York and Palm Beach ... arrived a day late for the Ball ... thinking it was Saturday night ... Russell Nype was coming down with them and they were to have been in Nancy Holmes' party ...

Here they were ... with western clothes ready for the Ball ... so they decided to have a party of their own ... and asked a few guests to drop in Saturday night at the George Frelinghuysen house on Panorama Road ... Carrie is George's cousin ... and the two women spent the weekend there ...

Loved the house ... which blends Congo artifacts with modern styling and George's collections of abstract paintings ... The livingroom features the basic fire (the fireplace) and water (it flows down a tiled wall) ... and Larry Finley and I both made the same wisecrack ... as we arrived a half hour apart ... "Nice house ... too bad the roof leaks" ...

There's a wonderful view of Palm Springs from the pool terrace ... and the bathrooms are sensational ... one with sunken bath ... and one done in vivid Mexican colors ...

Next door neighbors ... Viola and Raymond Lowey were there ... Soon they will be off to Montreal ... where he's engaged in a multi-million-dollar project ...

The Doyle Cottons, Brett Halsey, Johnny Grant ... the Finleys, Gloria Lewis ... were among others who sat and ate pate de foie gras on toast rounds and drank champagne and discussed Desert Circus and allied festivities ...

A dog or a baby are always sure fire winners ... and the Hat Contest at Kangaroo Court was no exception ... Vivian Austin and daughter Angela ... in matching hats and squaw dresses were winners ... and Lenni Johnson in western shorts and shirt with a zany hat loaded with clown figures an animated figure and a miniature lion cage containing live hamsters ... and leading a lazy-type alghan dog ... really wowed the judges ...

Virginia Abdun-Nur's beautiful hat ... black lace trimmed won her a prize ... and Shirley Vloedman ... the tall Dutch girl ... won with a hat that used a cocktail glass for decor ... and was titled "One Too Many" ...

The dance floor was a kaleidoscope of color as the costumed figures danced to the music of Ed- dy Howard and his orchestra ... Highlight of the evening's entertainment was the precision dancing of the award-winning Rhythmites ... from Las Vegas High School ...

The Kissing Contest got lost in other Ball activities ... but the Art Class for Men Only did a thriving business ...

Funniest thing that happened this weekend ... Lee Anderson and socialite Carrie Munn (she's also a successful dress designer)

DESERT CIRCUS QUEEN Janet Leigh was photographed on the dance floor dancing with former Ambassador Joe Kennedy. (P. S. NewsPhoto)

Financier Selects Texas Girl As Stardom Bound With Sponsor

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — UPI — A pretty Texas filly has discovered the means for storming the movies — a wealthy Houston oil magnate. Anne Morell is being sponsored by oil man William Burke to the tune of $500 a month until such time as she becomes a star. No sugar daddy, Burke is financing the bright-eyed brunette as a business investment. He's that sure she will become a valuable property. And no matter how you look at the situation, Anne is considerably easier on the eyes than a forest of oil derricks. Burke has a five-year contract with his shapely protegee which gives him 25 per cent of all her earnings.

Not a Dime
The deal was made last spring, and thus far Anne hasn't made a dime in Hollywood, and should she fail to make good Burke will have to write his loss off the books. "I'm really just getting started," Anne said. "I have an agent now, and I've spent the last six months taking dramatic lessons."

Anne's best qualifications for an acting career are her 36-22-35½ measurements and a pair of sparkling black eyes. But her experience has been limited to beauty contests.

"I was Miss Flame of 1955, Miss Whirly Bird of 1957 and Miss Ruby Lips of 1959, plus seven other contests in Texas," she explained.

"After a while I realized I couldn't make a career of beauty contests and decided to become an actress. But things weren't going so well until I went to a fortune teller in Dallas.

Strictly Business Relation
"She told me about Mr. Burke, and then told Mr. Burke about me. I needed financing for an acting career, and Mr. Burke thought it would be a good investment. Our relationship is strictly business and impersonal.

"He's not giving me anything at all. The $500 a month he pays me is a loan. He is my business manager, too. And as soon as I start work I will pay him back, but he will continue to finance me until I become a star. I'm confident I will, too."

Like most newcomers to Hollywood Anne is more interested in movies than television, and for the usual reasons—more money, more glamour.

Said Burke, "I'm an oil man and don't know anything about show business. But I've talked to people who are in the business out here and they think Anne has a fine chance to become a star. So I'll continue to finance her until such time when she can make it on her own."

Peggy Garner Opens Today

Peggy Ann Garner will make her Palm Springs' premier appearance at 8:40 p.m. today, when the stage lights go on for "John Loves Mary" at Ferrall's Playhouse in Deep Well.

Co-starring with the screen and television ingenue will be Alan Baxter. Play, a love-with-red-tape comedy, runs a week.

TO SCORE FILM
HOLLYWOOD — UPI — Alex Alexander, former conductor of the London Philharmonic Orchestra, has been signed to write and conduct the musical score for "Operation Eichmann."

Work on the Allied Artists release got under way in early January. The picture will relate the cloak-and-dagger capture of Adolf Eichmann in Argentina.

ARTIST

Cargyle Sculpts Welcome

Village sculptor Glen Cargyle has completed a 13 feet tall wrought iron steel and metal work for the Leon Welmas building, with the title "Welcome, Friends —" or Salutatio, Amici, to those remembering their Latin.

Now in place at Indian Avenue and McCallum Way, the work shows a large figure with outstretched arms welcoming visitors. Three smaller figures represent visitors.

The whole structure is contemporary abstract, Cargyle explained. All four figures are drawn into a single entity, with a webbing of steel. Green highlights shade the metal surfaces.

"A monumental work of art should reflect significant characteristics of the place and people of the area where it's located," Cargyle said.

"Historically, the lasting art of a nation, society or culture reflects the mode of living of the people in much the same way that artifacts reflect the living of the past peoples," the artist emphasized.

Monroe Remains Queen to Fans After Hospital

By DOC QUIGG
United Press International
NEW YORK — UPI — The case of beauty and the beastly nerves — Marilyn Monroe — got physically out of the hospital and figuratively back into public hands today.

Public Figure No. 1, the lady with the horizontal walk, tripped lightly out of the Neurological Institute of Columbia - Presbyterian Medical Center Sunday afternoon after spending 27 days in two institutions which are devoted to putting ruffled psyches back in shape.

Pale, thinner, but still pretty, Marilyn said, "I feel fine. I feel wonderful. I had a nice rest." She appeared a little frightened by a crowd of 400 fans who jammed around her, but her face brightened into a radiant smile when a woman took one look at her new champagne hair-do and said, "You're beautiful."

Plans Rest
Miss Monroe, accompanied past the hospital door by six security guards, two private detectives, an associate, a secretary and a press agent, said she plans only "to rest" at her Manhattan apartment.

Ex-husband Joe DiMaggio, a frequent hospital visitor, did not accompany the actress, who was dressed in a sweater and skirt that appeared tight despite her weight loss.

She entered on Feb. 7 the Payne Whitney Clinic of New York Hospital — Cornell Medical Center, one of the nation's outstanding psychiatric institutions. Three days later, in an unusual switch, she checked out and checked right in at the Neurological Institute, across town.

It was understood that at the institute she was treated for a nervous disorder. She has undergone private psychiatric treatment off and on for years. Her press representative said she had had a "very tough year" and was "just exhausted... really beat down, physically and emotionally."

'Soupy' Latest Hollywood Name

HOLLYWOOD — UPI — People with nutty names gravitate to Hollywood like starlets to a bachelor producer.

Latest immigrant with kookie handle is a character named Soupy Sales, the pride and joy of Detroit television.

His claim to fame is a Saturday noon TV show beamed for the nation's youngsters. His stock in trade are two invisible dogs named White Fang and Black Tooth.

HORROR FILMS LACK TOUCH OF TERROR

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — UPI — Horror movies are truly horrible, says Boris Karloff in reviewing the decline and fall of film monster.

In the old days brother Boris terrified the nation, transforming great blocks of the populace into insomniacs. Many a youngster (and oldtimer too) couldn't sleep for weeks after seeing "Frankenstein" and "The Mummy."

But these days the so-called horror movies are funnier than Mickey Rooney playing center for the Boston Celtics.

"There's so much needless violence horror pictures have become ludicrous," Karloff said in sepulchral tones. "Audiences are amused instead of frightened."

Gentle Monster
"Terror is the key, not bloodshed and fights. There was very little violence in 'Frankenstein.' The monster was gentle and a sympathetic character."

"After I made that film I received hundreds of letters expressing compassion for the monster."

"You see, there was an excellent story involved in 'Frankenstein.'"

There is no compassion for today's monsters because they have no basis in reality. Instead they borrow liberally from the old pictures, but infuse no real story in the bargain.

"They just time the fights to perk things up when the story begins to slow up. They're not what they used to be."

Eschews Makeup
Last fall he eschewed his monster makeup for a business suit to play host on NBC-TV's hit show, "Thriller."

To fulfill his obligation he commutes from London to Hollywood four or five times a year to film his introductions to the spine-tingling series. This year he has appeared in only one segment.

"Next season I shall appear in three or four of them," he said. "I'm absolutely delighted that the show has been successful."

Will he ever return to playing spooky roles in pictures?

"I'm 73 years old now and disinclined to work that hard again," Karloff said. "It's necessary to spend four hours in makeup and then carry around 50 pounds of monster equipment."

PLATTER WITH "NEVADA," a big Al Trace number written especially for the 25th annual Desert Circus celebration here, is presented by maestro Eddy Howard, right, to KDES deejay Cliff Miller. Eddy Howard Trio waxed the disc with the Happy Timers. Howard also presented Miller with the new long-play album of Howard golden records, for airing on the big independent 920 dial spot. Canned Romance May Add to Youth Trouble

LONDON — UPI — When handsome Rock Hudson folds beautiful Doris Day in his arms in the final fade-out of a film, many a couple in the audience fancy themselves in love too.

Under the spell of the romances they have seen on the screen, read about in novels, and listened to in popular songs, these couples marry and prepare to enjoy a state of perpetual bliss.

But large numbers of them wind up, bewildered, in the divorce courts. And the British Medical Association warned today that the "exploitation" of romantic love by the entertainment world is leading thousands of young people into hopeless marriages.

TOP FEATURE SET HOLLYWOOD 'Gypsy' the hit Broadway musical, has been scheduled as one of the top productions for 1961 at Warner Bros.

The motion picture version of the show will star Rosalind Russell, who has made on other picture for Warners.

Five Ailing Angels Sent to L.A. for Check-Ups Today

Grissom Likes His Pitchers

The Los Angeles Angels sent five of their ailing up to Los Angeles today for check-ups and gave the rest of the squad the day off.

The injury list includes Jim McAnany, stout Steve Bilko, Ken Hamlin, pitcher Eli Grba and Leo Burke, but none of them were disabled very badly.

Bilko has an injured right elbow and must rest up for a couple of days. McAnany is being bothered by a pulled muscle in his right shoulder. Grba has a strained ligament on the inside of his left knee and Burke also has a hurting right shoulder. Shortstop Hamlin has a sprained ankle. All should be ready to return to action in a few days, according to Dr. Robert Kerlan.

Angel pitching coach Marv Grissom seems to be happy with the club's staff.

"(Aubrey) Gatewood has been impressive. He has the best curve of any of the youngsters. He has good speed, too. Actually, everyone of them has the ability to eventually make the majors.

"I see no reason why (Ned) Garver, at his age (35), can't be a good pitcher for a couple of more seasons. As for (Jack) Harshman, everything so far has been encouraging."

The Angels couldn't agree on the Pacific Coast League's plan to let the pitcher stay in the game, yet not have to bat.

"I don't like it," was the opinion of general manager Fred Haney. "There are many other ways they can keep games from running too long."

Grissom agreed with Haney. "I don't like the idea too much. Bad as I was at the bat, I always liked to get up there."

But coach Red Kress said, "I think it's worth an experiment. Maybe the fans will like it and they count plenty. I know one thing, it'd make your good pitchers better because they'd work more."

Angelstown notes: Manager Bill Riney planned an intrasquad game for today. Grissom said Harshman, who used to hurl for the Chicago White Sox, is in better shape than any of the other chucks. . . . McAnany, Hamlin, Grba and Burke had lunch in Los Angeles together at the House of Serrano and gabbed with some of the basketball writers there for their weekly luncheon.

CAN'T LIVE ON ONE HOMER FOREVER

No Home Run Hitter Declares Mazeroski

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UPI)—The thrill is gone and although the memory still lingers on, World Series hero Bill Mazeroski knows he "can't live on one home run forever."

Everyone in baseball, of course, knows about that homer.

Maz belted it against the New York Yankees in the ninth inning of the seventh World Series game last fall to bring the Pittsburgh Pirates their first world championship since 1925.

"I've gotten over it by now," said the 24-year-old Pirate second baseman, fixing the webbing of a new glove he's breaking in. "That was one hit and I'm going to need a lot more than that to make a living up here."

NO MATTER what else he ever does, Mazeroski will be remembered for that blow the same way the mention of Bobby Thomson's name always stirs memories of that famous home he hit against the Dodgers to win the pennant for the Giants in 1951.

Mazeroski's homer, however, didn't bring him much in the way of added revenue during the winter. Previous World Series heroes, like Lew Burdette and Don Larsen, made as much as $20,000 extra after enjoying their day in the sun.

"I DIDN'T MAKE anywhere near that," Mazeroski commented. "I went to a couple of banquets last winter, got tired of them in a hurry and didn't go to anymore. I'm no speaker. Maybe if I was I wouldn't feel differently."

Nor does Maz go up to the plate these days and swing from the heels every time.

"No sense kidding myself," he says. "I'm no home run hitter. I hit only 13 homers all last year, counting the World Series, and if I hit the same number this year I'll be satisfied."

DODGERS PERFECT NEW WEAPON

Craig to Throw Slip Ball at NL Batters

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Add to the list of pitcher's equipment the "slip ball," patented 1961 by Roger Craig of the Los Angeles Dodgers and manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles.

But don't throw away the fast ball, curve and slider just yet. Pay attention Mr. Webster, while Mr. Craig attempts a definition: "Paul and I had a game of golf in Miami before I checked in at Dodgertown and he showed me how to throw the slip pitch."

"IT'S ACTUALLY a change up, only you throw it with a harder motion and without breaking your wrist. Although you use a fast ball delivery, the actual pitch does not travel fast and the idea is to throw the batter off his timing."

Actually, trying to throw a change up with the same motion as a fast ball is nothing new in baseball.

WHILE THE CLUB took a day off Monday from the conditioning and intrasquad games, coach Joe Becker expressed his admiration for rookie hurler Ron Perranoski. "He has what it takes," said Becker. "He has two curves, a wide sweeping curve and a faster, smaller curve. Those are his best pitches against left-handed batters. Against right-handers he has a sinker which breaks down and away from the hitter. His fast ball is more than adequate, but the biggest thing on his side is control."

PERRANOSKI CAME to the Dodgers from the Chicago Cubs as part of the trade that sent infielder Don Zimmer to the Wrighleys. Last season at Montreal he had an earned run average of 2.87. During the pennant fight with St. Paul, his ERA was a nifty 1.58.

TV Lark Carries Top Weight for Capistrano 'Cap

ARCADIA — With Wolfram out of Saturday's $100,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap, the erratic T.V. Lark today took over as the top-weighted horse in the final stakes of the Santa Anita meeting.

Wolfram was declared from the race Monday before weights were posted and handicapper Jimmy Kilroe assigned T.V. Lark the top impost of 122 pounds for the grass course stakes.

Trainer Burley Parke said Wolfram came out of last Thursday's victory in the $25,000 Arcadia Handicap a sore-legged horse and did not get over that condition quickly as he had in the past.

Today's racing program featured the $10,000 Glendale Purse at 7 furlongs for 3-year-old fillies.

P. S. Invitational Stepping Stone Into Top Pro Ranks

An interesting bit of reminiscing about the Annual Palm Springs Invitational Gold Championship reveals that many amateurs moved up to pro ranks after testing the sporty O'Donnell course in Palm Springs.

A rundown of former amateurs who have entered the classic, shows that these golfing greats have been on the entry lists: Ken Venturi, Bob Rosburg, Gene Littler, Tommy Jacobs, Allen Geiberger, Bud Ward, John Brodie, Bobby McCallister, Rod Funseth, Jerry Steelsmith, Eddie Meyerson, Phil Rodgers, Smiley Quick, Ray Sleepy, Charles Teel, Macgregor Hunter, Lew Jennings, George Bayer, Bud Holscher, H. Knight and Willie Barber.

Former Champs Head Star Invitational Field

Paced by four time titlist Dr. Bud Taylor and two-time winner John Dawson, a stellar field has dropped entries in the starter's box for the 26th Annual Palm Springs Invitational Golf Championship at O'Donnell Golf Club March 12 through 19.

A partial list of entrants, besides Dr. Taylor who won the first tournament in 1935 and the latest in 1960 plus two in between, and Dawson, includes: Ted Richards, Peter Grant, Frank Hixon, Bruce McCormick, Don Young, Frank Hoover, Bob Warren, Jim McGonahill, Roger Felley, Gene Andrews, Tom Draper, Verne Callison, Cy Pennell, Frank Zack, Robert Roos, Jr., Harvie Ward, E. E. Lowery, Jimmy French, Nels Culenward and George Archer.

A STAR-STUDED tournament committee headed by J. E. "Dad" French includes such luminaries as Bob Hope, Phil Harris and Charlie Farrell.

Lined up for the week-long program will be a class A event with two divisions for 36 holes of medal play between March 12 and 14. Class one is for handicaps of 6 to 14, while class 2 is for 15 to 24 handicappers.

On March 15 and 16, the Senior Event of 18 hole medal play will entertain 55 classes as follows: Class 1 — 55 years to 59; Class 2 — 60 to 64 years; Class 3 — 65 years to 69; Class 4 — 70 to 74 years; and Class 5 — 75 years and over.

The Championship event — 54 holes of medal play — will be played on March 17, 18 and 19. All proceeds from refreshment sales and all gate receipts will be donated to the Palm Springs Youth Center.

Mrs. Harold Hicks and Mrs. Charles Baldwin head the refreshment committee, while the gate committee is headed by Mrs. William Foster and Helen Dzo Dzo.

Rudometkin Out As Result Injury

LOS ANGELES — John Rudometkin, the University of Southern California's second team All-American center, was on crutches today and will miss this week-end's games against California and Stanford.

Television in Review...

NEW YORK — To the felicitous phrase, "fierce, funny and far out" that was attached to Sunday's "Omnibus," I would add the word "fine."

This NBC-TV hour, though 4-F in alliteration, was strictly 1-A in terms of lively entertainment.

William Saroyan, our perennially far out playwright, was the program guide and he set out to sample the tidy dialogue of some fierce, funny and far out colleagues. Steering from the shade of his prodigious handlebar mustache, Saroyan dealt with some writers who take stage-state viewpoints and convert them into vital, fresh, moving theatrical experiences by the use of imagination, wit and original force.

Aided and abetted by host Al Stewart Cooke and producer Robert Saudek, Saroyan dumped into our laps portions of "Krap's Last Tape," by Samuel Beckett and "The Killer" by Eugene Ionesco. The tour opened with a scene from Saroyan's "The Time of Your Life," as originally written and as modernized for this airing. The final morsel was Edward Albee's one-acter, "The Sand Box," starring Sudie Bond.

If these plays still bear the "experimental" or "far out" label, I like to blame it on a "boldness gap" in theatrical creativity.

Deserves Praise

The hour deserves a salute on a number of counts. First, it took three of the playwrights closer to the brink of prime network time than they've ever been and also introduced Albee's work to a national audience and everything smacked of enthusiasm and honesty.

Nancy Wickwire was superb as Mary L. in "Time of Your Life." She touched all bases as the on-guard, anxious, optimistic girl. Mike Kellin, as Joe, worked too much heavy-lidded hostility into his role and not enough whimsy. Myron McCormick, as Berenger in "The Killer," was a chilling success as he glided across the scale of emotions with excellent rhythm. He was less successful, however, in "Krap's Last Tape." Here, he tacked on a burlesque tone. The TV cameras didn't help matters as they became too involved with Krap and his tape recorder.

These tight camera shots cropped the dark loneliness of the room from Krap's shoulders and led him and his tapes into an ineffective trap.

"The Sand Box," though not Albee at his expansive or brittle best, nevertheless contained a high degree of vitality and humor. Having presented these fierce

Queens Aid Firemen in Finance Effort

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — When High School lovelies Lucile Carter, Desert Hot Springs, and Susan Briggs, North Palm Springs, take the stage Saturday in the queen contest of the big Coachella Valley Volunteer Firemen's Ball at Indio, they know what the cause represents.

The cause of the "Miss Fireball" celebration is money for the equipment for the volunteer units of the Coachella Valley. Ten communities will be represented in the fête.

At Desert Hot Springs, a new compact panel truck is the latest equipment to be purchased for property and lifesaving. The unit can haul sufficient oxygen for two and a half hour supply for the firemen's new resuscitator. The truck will also haul other fire and weather protection gear for the volunteers.

Teen Angel Float Set for Exhibit In Bullock Store

The glowing Teen Angels' float which won the Sweepstakes award in the 25th annual Desert Circus parade here will linger before Palm Springs residents in the angel-topped trophy which will be displayed in Bullock's window for a week.

Jack Boulard, Bullock's designer, was architect for the winning entry. Working with him were John Torrence, Mrs. Lucille Dreiss, Dick Sullivan, Ray Saladori, and Mrs. Helen Morris.

Sullivan was chauffeur for the open car which carried Queen Teen Bonnie Blackstone, and Cherubs Mary Faith Gastel and Georgia Morris. Nineteen Teen Angels rode on the float. The float was financed by Ocotillo Lodge.

Stevens Named PD Planning Aide

Employment of Ray H. Stevens of Banning as planning aide at a salary of $417 per month was authorized by the board of supervisors.

Personnel Director Donald Spencer agreed with Planning Director Tyler Suss that the employment of Stevens on the third step of the salary range for the position is warranted because of his drafting and engineering experience. He has a college degree with major in engineering and has had 10 years experience in drafting and engineering.

Stevens will be employed in the Palm Desert office of the planning department.

Red Cross Opens Drive for $26,186

The local Red Cross officially opened its drive for $26,186 to finance its coming year's operations in an informal program Monday in The Doll House.

Police Chief August Kettmann made the main address to campaign workers, speaking on his experience with the Red Cross in the Yuba City disaster in 1935. Police Lt. Ted Greene also spoke on civil defense for the Palm Springs area.

Red Cross officials from Riverside pointed out that their organization receives no help locally from the Community Chest.

An artificial palm tree stands in the Desert Inn grounds marking the progress of the Red Cross fund campaign.

A little lady on the indicator is climbing toward a bunch of dates, aided with each dollar donation.

ARC spokesman Vellie Tripp said the palm tree barometer is a creation of commercial artist and photographer Val Samuelson. Samuelson donated his services, and Dill Lumber Company donated all materials except paint.

Flying Glass in Tavern Brings Assault Arrest

Felix Juan Perez, 24, of 469 North Calle, Santa Rosa, was arrested on a charge of assault after one man was hit with a flying bottle and another with a broken glass at the Amador bar, Palm Springs police said.

WHY AM I?

Voting FOR

AIRPORT

ACQUISITION?

I've Never Rode in a Plane!

1. But I do have a job here

... and like everyone else in the community, I know that the dollars which make my job possible come from our winter visitors. Cut off their transportation and my job is cut off. If I'm not on a payroll, I'm not going to be buying gasoline, or food, or clothes, or entertainment. With so many tourists coming by air and bringing so many dollars, we need the airport. It's our lifeline.

2. ---and I do pay taxes

I can look at the estimated $22 million produced by our air traffic and realize that about $150,000 of our sales tax comes from this source. If it is cut off, the city is going to have to look elsewhere for money on which to operate. I know it will have to come from increased property taxes—and that hits me! On the other hand, with the airport on a paying basis in three years, the profits it plows back can hold my taxes down—even reduce them. This I am going to protect with my "Yes" vote March 14.

3. ---and I have confidence

I have confidence in the future of my community—I know it is growing and going to continue to grow—which simply means it needs an airport now and an improved one for the future. But more than that, when I see all my neighbors, my community leaders and all the civic groups unanimously FOR the airport acquisition program I have to think they can't all be wrong. I have confidence in Palm Springs and the people who live in it—enough confidence to vote "YES" March 14 and to urge all my friends to do the same.
